40 Oxygenated bed facility opens at Trauma Care Centre

District in-charge Minister S.T. Somashekar, who inaugurated the Oxygenated bed facility at Trauma Care Centre on KRS Road in city this morning, seen with MLA L. Nagendra, MUDA Chairman H.V. Rajeev and others.

Mysuru, Nov.4 (RKB&DM)- In yet another measure to tackle the deadly COVID-19 contagion, District Minister S.T. Somashekar inaugurated the newly set-up 40 oxygenated bed facility at the Trauma Care Centre located in PKTB Sanatorium premises on KRS road here this morning.

Speaking on the occasion, Somashekar said that patients suffering from SARI (Severe Acute Respiratory Infection) and other severe respiratory problems will be directly admitted in this facility. Pointing out that so far the facility has not received any patient as Corona cases have witnessed a sharp decline in recent days in the district, which is a most welcome sign, the Minister said that the Trauma Centre building has been constructed at a cost of Rs.30 crore.

The Centre has a Modular Operation Theatre (MOT), which features 4 specialised Operation Theatres, 26 ICU beds, an Oxygen Generation Plant with a capacity to produce 60 cylinders per day and an additional Oxygen generation and manifold system, totally costing Rs.3.5 crore. The Centre also has the capacity to have 250 more oxygenated beds and 45 ventilators for meeting any future requirements. The Minister later went around the entire premises to have first-hand information on medical facilities available.

US Presidential elections-2020

Trump threatens to move SC

Washington, Nov. 4 (Agencies)- US President and Republican candidate Donald Trump today said he would go to the Supreme Court (SC) to stop delayed counting of votes.

In a short address to the media and supporters at the White House, Trump claimed he was on way to victory but "all of a sudden, everything snapped."

"This is a fraud on the American public. We were getting ready to win this election. Frankly, we did win this election...We want the law to be used in a proper manner. We'll be going to US Supreme Court. We want all voting to stop," he said.

Donald Trump Joe Biden

Trump's words means the final results may not be in for a week as the parties battle it out in the nation's Top Court. Trump is in a close contest with Democratic Party challenger Joe Biden with the latter having won 238 electoral college votes and the incumbent 213. A contestant needs to win 270 electoral votes to occupy the White House.

The President claimed he was "winning" in Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Georgia and Michigan. While the counting so far puts him ahead in those States, the results have not been called out there yet.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Many youngsters know that stress at work and in school means that they eat in not very healthy ways. Their sleep habits are equally unhealthy. Here is an opportunity to govern these two. One of the best diets offered is the one that probably your mother follows – eat as much, as long as you cook it yourself. You know the ingredients, you understand the oil, you know the masalas. Pick up cooking as something that will stay with you forever — whether you are a boy or a girl. Prefer traditional, Indian, food. Roti-daal or idli-dosa is preferred to pasta and pizza. Why? Because, in the former, you usually start from scratch with the most fundamental ingredients. Let your family senior be the guide. Then, with everybody around, and to your heart's content, Eat. This is your heart and your hands at work. Enquire, Engage, Explore, Eat. This will also drive a routine that can regulate the day and help us sleep well. Sleeping well and deep of course will help give the energy to exercise till you break out into a sweat, with mindfulness in every breath. There will still be some who need help to do this, and if you feel you are anxious, feeling low or easily disturbed and often not in the mood, do not hesitate to reach out to your trusted friend or adviser — in the house or outside. — Saamdu Chetri, Jagdish Rattanani in Deccan Herald

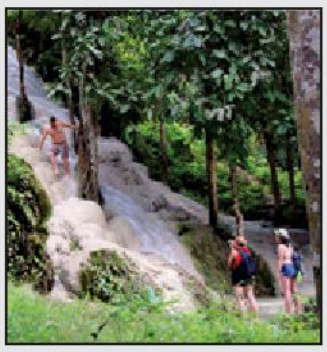
Powerful fan system can reproduce a Category 5 hurricane

Miami: Wall of Wind, the world's largest wind simulator, is capable of generating winds of up to 157 miles per hour (70m/s), comparable to those registered during Category 5 hurricanes.

In order to better protect against the devastating force of hurricanes, one has to first study them and test various materials against the powerful winds they generate. With this idea in mind, engineers at the International Hurricane Research Center (IHRC) and College of Engineering and Computing (CEC) at Florida State University spent 15 years building and perfecting the Wall of Wind, an impressive installation capable of replicating hurricane-force winds.

The Miami-based Wall of Wind was capable of replicating hurricanes of Categories 1 through 4, but the current installation is reportedly capable of simulating hurricanes like Katrina and Andrew, which rank as Category 5 according to the Saffir–Simpson Hurricane Scale.

Sticky waterfalls – A waterfall you can climb with bare feet



Chiang Mai: Waterfalls are notoriously slippery and climbing them without specialised gear is usually a bad idea, but at Bua Thong Waterfalls in Thailand's Chiang Mai province, visitors can climb almost vertical falls using only their hands and feet.

The so-called Sticky Waterfalls get their name from the incredibly grippy limestone rocks that the water runs over. They feel like a very hard sponge to the touch and even though they can be described as prickly, you can easily climb them barefoot without hurting yourself. Because no algae or slimes adheres to this callous rock surface, the limestone creates enough friction to prevent slipping, allowing anyone in decent physical shape to climb even the steepest parts of the waterfalls.

Ring Road plunges into darkness yet again

Sir,

This refers to the news item "Ring of Light: 42-Km Outer Ring Road Glows, Again" in SOM dated May 9, 2020. The lights have gone off and the road has again plunged into darkness, endangering the safety of people using the motorway and residents of layouts beyond the road.

The city including the Columbia Asia Junction has been illuminated during Dasara season which surely has added grandeur but no attention has been paid to illuminate the street lights on this busy stretch.

I am not sure if any Official from the civic authorities has taken a round of the Ring Road recently after dusk, or is this hardship reserved only for the chauffeurs of their air-conditioned cars and the common man who has to endure this hardship as a price for using this much-publicised road?

On Aug. 29 at about 6.45 pm, Sangeetha, who came to the jewellery shop of Bhagavathi Jain in Agrahara here, told Jain that her daughter was very sick and pleaded Jain to give her Rs. 1 lakh by pledging her four gold bangles.

Iron railing kills jumbo

Mysuru, Nov. 4 (MTY&SSV)- In a tragic incident, a wild tusker died after it was caught in iron railing erected to prevent the elephants from straying out of wild in Nadaahadi Beat of Moleyur Range of Bandipur Tiger Reserve on Tuesday.

According to information reaching here, the incident occurred when a jumbo, after grazing on the standing crops in agriculture farms, was returning to its habitat. The ground was slippery due to overnight rains. When it tried to cross over the railing, the torso portion got struck in the railing and reportedly died of asphyxia. Just 800 meters away from the spot, a Haadi (hamlet) is situated. Though the elephant repeatedly cried for help, the tribals thought it as usual and neglected its plea. On Tuesday morning, they went near the spot to see the elephant whose head was stuck between the iron railing. The tusker was aged around 14-15 years.

The Forest Department had erected the iron railing at a four-feet height to prevent the wild animals from straying out of forests to human settlement.

A wild elephant aged around 14 to 15 years old has died after its torso portion stuck between iron railing. Prima facie it looks like death due to suffocation. Post-mortem report is awaited.

—S.R. Natesh, Director, Bandipur Tiger Reserve

On receipt of information, Bandipur Tiger Reserve Director S.R. Natesh, Hediyala Assistant Conservator of Forests (ACF) Ravikumar, Range Forest Officer (RFO) G. Puttaraju visited the spot. The autopsy was conducted by Dr. D.N. Nagaraj and Rangaraju in the presence of senior officials at around 3 pm. The carcass was buried after removing the tusks.

It may be mentioned here that a wild elephant that was caught in iron railing in Bandipur forest was rescued by Forest staff. However, another jumbo which attempted to cross over the iron railing in Veeranahosalli Range, had died before the arrival of rescue team.

Elephant Bhima chases away riders clicking selfies in front of him

Drags their bike and damages it

Madikeri, Nov. 4 (MTY&KS)- A video of elephant Bhima of Mathigod Elephant Camp chasing away bike riders, who were clicking selfies in front of him and pushing away the bike of the riders who ran for safety leaving behind their two-wheeler, has gone viral on social media.

The incident took place on the State Highway near Thithimathi (Anechowkur) on Sunday evening.

Bhima, which is housed in Mathigod Elephant Camp, was left for grazing on the side of the Highway by the Mahouts. After grazing for sometime, Bhima was about to cross the Highway to go to the other side, when two bike riders, who saw the bell tied to Bhima, went in front of it and began to click selfies.

As any tamed elephant does not allow anyone to venture near it except for its Mahout and Kavadi, moved swiftly towards the riders to chase them and the riders left their bike and ran away to safety. Seeing the bike fallen on the road, Bhima dragged the bike and damaged it.

The incident left numerous vehicles lined up on either side of the Highway and traffic was disrupted for sometime because of the foolishness of the bike riders.

Range Forest Officer (RFO) Kiran Kumar said that the Mahouts, who rushed to the spot, cleared the bike from the road and added that the identity of the bike riders was to be known.

Country-made guns, gun manufacturing equipment seized

Kollegal, Nov. 4 (N. Nagendra& KS)- Kollegal Rural Police have arrested seven poachers, who were hunting down wild animals coming in search of food and water to agricultural fields in forest borders and have seized seven country-made guns besides seizing equipment used in the manufacturing of country-made guns from a house.

The poachers were arrested at Jageri village of Sathegala Gram Panchayat limits in the taluk.

The arrested are 27-year-old John Jonas, 48-year-old John Bosco, 29-year-old Antony Anand, 28-year-old Simon Stalin, 33-year-old Bhagyaraj, 27-year-old Sheshuraju and 25-year-old Antony Raju, all residents of Shanthinagar near Jageri village.

Addressing a press conference on Tuesday, Chamarajanagar district Superintendent of Police (SP) Divya Sara Thomas said that accused John Jonas owned agricultural land in Survey No. 174 at the foot of Gavirayaswamy Hill near Shanthinagar where he was into agricultural activity.

She further said that to hunt down wild animals coming to his land, John, along with his friends, had stored gun powder and had kept seven country-made guns.

She further said that Munirudrappa was involved in many poaching cases earlier too and now, he has been caught with a gun. During interrogation, Munirudrappa has told the Police that he had purchased the country-made gun at Anchipalya in Dharmapuri, Tamil Nadu.

Keep track of Corona patients with co-morbidities: District In-charge Secretary

Mysuru, Nov.4 (PM&DM)- District In-charge Secretary N. Jayaram said that the authorities must seek information about patients who get admitted in Hospitals for COVID-19 treatment and keep a track on them for co-morbidities.

He was speaking at a meeting with officials on COVID-19 testing, treatment and control, at the Deputy Commissioner's office here yesterday.

Noting that many patients who get admitted in Hospitals after testing positive for COVID-19 are found to be suffering from co-morbidities, Jayaram said that officials must see to it that such patients get proper treatment for their ailments.

Pointing out that it has been found that some private hospitals have defaulted on proper display of information regarding COVID-19 treatment, he said that the team formed by the District Administration for the purpose should inspect such hospitals for verification.

Emphasising on the need for the authorities to sensitise people at large public gatherings such as private functions, bus stands, Railway Station, markets etc., on strictly following COVID-19 protocol, Jayaram said that at the same time, it is important to make people understand the gravity of the situation.

He further directed the officials concerned to take measures for counselling COVID-19 infected patients undergoing treatment at Hospitals and those under Home Isolation, in order to instill confidence in them.

Deputy Commissioner Rohini Sindhuri said that the infections have been brought under control in Mysuru, with the district reporting lesser number of cases with each passing day. But still, the District Administration has enhanced COVID-19 testing as a precautionary measure, she said and added that about a thousand beds are available in COVID Hospitals.

SP C.B. Ryshyanth, ZP CEO D. Bharathi, MCC Commissioner Gurudatta Hegde, DCP Dr. A.N. Prakash Gowda, ADC B.S. Manjunathswamy, DHO Dr. T. Amarnath and other officials attended the meeting.

3 COVID Care Centres to close down in city

The COVID Care Centres that would continue to function are: K.R. Hospital, District COVID Hospital, Trauma Care Centre and the Centre at KSOU Academic Bhavan near Mandakalli. Whereas Beedi Workers Hospital and BSNL's RTTC building in Kuvempunagar are ready with sufficient number of beds, ventilators and oxygenated beds and they can be utilised any time. The staff in the CCCs will be kept as standby and deployed in case of emergency, according to Dr. Mohammed Shiraz Ahmed, District Tuberculosis Officer (DTO) and in-charge of COVID-19 Testing and Reporting of cases.

According to him, some of the existing CCCs have hardly 5-6 Corona positive patients and they will be shifted to other nearby centres. Since the demand for beds has come down, thanks to good recovery rate, the District Administration felt no need to run them any longer as the staff has outnumbered patients.

In the last 10-15 days, the number of patients from nearby taluks has almost stopped due to availability of oxygenated beds in all Taluk Hospitals. Hunsur Taluk Hospital will be having 50 oxygenated beds from tomorrow. Only serious patients are brought to Mysuru for treatment. This has naturally reduced the burden on the State Govt.-run CCCs, he said adding that Mysuru District is fully geared up to meet any medical emergency in the coming months.

Free testing for Mall staff, Market traders

Dr.Siraj said it has been decided to hold free testing camps for the employees of three shopping malls and also traders of Devaraja, Mandi and Vani Vilasa Markets. Around 2,000 employees work in three shopping malls — Forum, BM Habitat and Mall of Mysore — and they will be subjected to undergo RT-PCR testing. Since thousands of people are expected to flock the market ahead of Deepavali festival, the Health Department felt it necessary to test the Mall staff in the interest of everyone.

With regard to Market traders, the MCC had held free testing before Gowri-Ganesha festival and another round of testing was required due to coming Deepavali festival. Already, a camp has been set up near Dufferin Clock Tower (Chikkagadiyara) and traders will be asked to avail free testing once again. Those who refuse to undergo testing will not be allowed to do business inside the Market, he said.

Good response

The DTO said there has been lot of demand from the factory managements to hold free testing camps in their premises for the sake of workers. In last two days, the Health Department has collected 1,100 samples and results are expected this evening.

According to an estimate, there are 50,000 persons working in factories. Department of Factories has come forward to give one month schedule to Health Department to test all workers. Enquiries have come from BEML and JK Tyre to conduct free testing. The Health Department is planning to test those above 50 years with morbidity on priority. Even the staff of Maharani's and Maharaja's Colleges, and a Private College, have undergone free testing recently, he noted.

City Cops plan big awareness push for 'COVID-appropriate' behaviour

Dr.Chandragupta

Mysuru, Nov.4- After months of creating awareness and educating public on wearing of face masks and subsequently penalising people for not wearing masks in public spaces, the City Police have now switched on to sensitising citizens on the importance of 'COVID-19 appropriate' behaviour to keep the infection at bay.

In a press release, City Police Commissioner Dr. Chandragupta said even as it seems that normal life has returned in the city post-lockdown relaxations, everyone should remember that the deadly pandemic has not yet ended and it is important for the public to follow Government norms in order to stop spread of the virus.

Noting that people are seen violating COVID-19 norms knowingly or unknowingly while taking part in religious and public programmes, he said that the Police have been observing that apart from people's representatives, political leaders and others, the officials too are eager to get themselves photographed in the events they participate. In such a scenario, it is but natural for photographers and videographers to ask all the guests on the stage to come closer for photographs or video shooting. Such photographs and videos are often telecast in the media and the people who look at them often tend to believe that it is nothing wrong.

Besides such actions may inspire the public to follow them, which is a dangerous trend, considering the rampant spread of the virus. In such a scenario, it is important for the media to educate the public on strictly following COVID protocol announced by the Government, the Commissioner said.

Asserting that the media and newspapers have been extending full co-operation for stopping the spread of the virus, Dr. Chandragupta said that the Police Department has sought continued co-operation from the media and has come up with certain suggestions in this regard, which are as follows:

* Stopping photographers and videographers from covering events where people who gather in large numbers and do not follow COVID-19 norms.

* Not to encourage taking of photographs or videos of political, social or religious events where people tend to get themselves photographed, without caring for safety norms. As part of an effort to maintain COVID appropriate behaviour among the gathering, the photographers and videographers must strictly stick on to 'No social distance - No Photo, No Video policy' as such a move will largely help in making the people realise the importance of following COVID -19 norms.

In cases where the media representatives find that COVID-19 norms are ignored in mass functions, they can immediately call the COVID Control Room on Ph: 1077, 0821-2423800 or 2957711 or 2957811 or the Police Control Room on: 100 or 0821-2418339.

India secures right to buy enough quantity of vaccine

New Delhi, Nov. 4 (Agencies)- In a major development, India and Brazil have secured the rights to buy enough quantities of COVID-19 vaccine to cover half the population of the respective nations as per data compiled by Duke Global Health Innovation Centre (DGHIC).

As per DGHIC, India has worked out deals with Pune-based Serum Institute of India (SII) and Novavax. Also, India is negotiating additional deals with some other companies. This gains significance as most of the richer nations have already purchased 3.8 billion doses of yet-to-be-produced and approved COVID-19 vaccines, while additional five billion doses are reserved or under negotiation.

It should be noted that the University of Oxford-AstraZeneca developed vaccine which the SII is producing is already leading in advance market commitments with more than two billion doses having been secured by high-income countries. The analysis showed that not a single low-income country has made a direct agreement to purchase vaccines, suggesting that low-income countries will be limited to the COVAX pact to secure vaccines.

The COVAX facility, an initiative by the World Health Organisation, GAVI, The Vaccine Alliance, and the Coalition for Epidemic Preparedness and Innovations, has so far managed to secure doses to vaccinate 250 million people.

Highway Robbery

Bike-borne miscreants assault riders, decamp with gold chains and cash

Mandya, Nov. 4 (KS)- In separate cases, Bike-borne miscreants have decamped with a gold chain and cash after assaulting them on Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway coming under Mandya Rural Police limits on Monday night.

In the first incident, miscreants, who threatened a rider and pillion rider with a knife, have assaulted them before decamping with a gold chain and cash from them.

The riders, who were assaulted, are Santosh and Srinivas. On Monday night, Santosh and Srinivas were proceeding on their bike towards their place on Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway from Mysuru side, when they saw two people standing along with a bike near Doddabyadarahalli Cross near Tubinakere on the Highway.

The two persons, who stopped Santosh and Srinivas, told them that they had run out of petrol and sought their help. Santosh and Srinivas, who obliged, began to tow their bike along with them and after towing to a distance, the two persons allegedly threatened Santosh and Srinivas with a knife, assaulted them and decamped with a gold chain and cash.

Santosh and Srinivas later lodged a complaint with Mandya Rural Police, who registered a case and are investigating.

Second case: In the second case, bike-borne miscreants have also snatched a two gram gold pendant along with a 15 gram gold chain of one Shivaraj, a resident of Indira Colony in Mandya, after assaulting him on the Highway near Induvalu.

On Monday at about 10 pm, Shivaraj, who runs a tea stall near a cement bricks shop close to Induvalu, closed his tea shop for the day and was proceeding towards his home when he saw two persons standing along with a bike on the Highway.

As Shivaraj neared them, one of the two persons hit him with an iron road and snatched his gold chain and the gold pendant and fled from the spot.

A case has been registered at Mandya Rural Police Station and the Police have suspected that the two incidents to be the work of the same persons.

In this week's Pet Talk, Maneka speaks about cows and the ways they have to be taken care of

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

Do cows get lonely?

Yes, cows do get lonely. Cows are herding animals and it is best for them to have a friend.

What is the average amount of water a cow will consume in a day?

Water intake depends on the body weight or size and productivity (growth, gestating, lactating) of the animal, salinity of the feed, the environment (especially temperature), and other less important factors. Cattle drink anywhere from 8% to over 12% of their body weight in water per day. Big cows need more than small cows, and cattle on saltier feed need more than cattle on low-salt feeds. A milking dairy cow drinks about 90 litres of water each day. During periods of heat stress water intake may double.

How long can a cow live for?

Cows can live for 15 to 20 years.

Do cows need shelter from the rain?

Animals need a shelter from heavy rain, winds or hail, as well as the extreme heat of the mid-day sun.

Should mung beans be soaked in water prior to feeding the cattle?

They can eat them as it is, no soaking is needed.

Do cows eat grass or are they fed grain?

Cows have evolved over millions of years to eat almost nothing but grass. Grains are hard for cows to digest and lead to chronic digestive problems. But dairy people feed their cows grains because the cows are confined and have no access to fields or grass.

Do cows remember faces?

Cows have great memories and are very good at remembering and recognising faces, even after long periods of time. Cows also have good spatial memory. They can remember where things are located, such as food, water, shelter, best grazing spots and most importantly, the location of their babies.

Do cows feel the cold?

A cow's normal average body temperature is 102 degrees, so they prefer temperatures between 40-60 degrees. In the winter, cows thick skin and hair is a natural insulator that protects them from the bitter cold. Their hairy coat grows longer and thicker in the winter. With a good winter coat, cattle will perform normally until temperatures drop below freezing, assuming no wind.

Why do cows moo at night?

Cows moo at night because they are trying to find their friends. When cows change environments, like moving from one farm to another, they will moo to try to connect with their friends as they figure out their new surroundings.

Do cows mourn?

Cows mourn the deaths of, and even separation from those they love, sometimes shedding tears over their loss.

How do cows communicate?

Cows and their calves communicate using calls. Two distinct maternal calls can be identified — low sounds when a mother was close to her calf, and louder, higher pitched calls when they were out of visual contact.

Can cows see in the dark?

Yes, cows can see in the dark. The light-reflecting surface located behind the retina, called the tapetum lucidum, helps cow see better in the dark.

How do I keep my calves happy in their shed?

Provide maximum air flow; Protect from weather elements, including sun in summer months; Allow warmth from sun in the winter months; Allow calves easy access to feed and water; Allow for easy cleaning and sanitising.

Do cows sleep standing up?

Cows only sleep lightly while standing up, and they are easily awakened. They lie down to sleep deeply.

Do cows like music?

Cows are drawn towards music. Not only do cows seem attracted to music, they stick around, listen and seem to be quite absorbed.

How to treat a calf showing signs of dehydration?

Use an effective oral electrolyte solution and make sure you're giving enough fluids.

How do you take care of a new-born calf?

Keep the calf warm, as calves are highly susceptible to chills and hypothermia, particularly right after birth when they are still wet and may be born in cold, wet, or windy conditions. A wet calf is a chilly calf, and keeping them dry is essential for keeping them warm. Always keep the surrounding near the calf clean, so that there is no propagation of microbes and viruses, and always monitor nursing.

Why do calves cough?

Coughing and nasal discharge is also a sign of pneumonia; however, this can also be a sign of poor ventilation and "stale" air. A calf that is coughing without a fever, or any change in respiratory rate, may just need fresh air and not antibiotics.

What are clinical signs of pneumonia in claves?

Acute pneumonia is usually noticed as a reduction in feeding by the calf, dull demeanour, dropping of the head, increased respiratory rate, nasal discharge and/or a cough along with a pyrexia (elevated temperature).

What type of bedding is recommended for calves?

Calves need a bedding material that they can nest into, typically wheat or oat straw to be able to conserve body heat, so, depth of bedding is important. Top quality wood shavings, wood chips, and wheat or oat straw are also very good absorbent bedding materials.

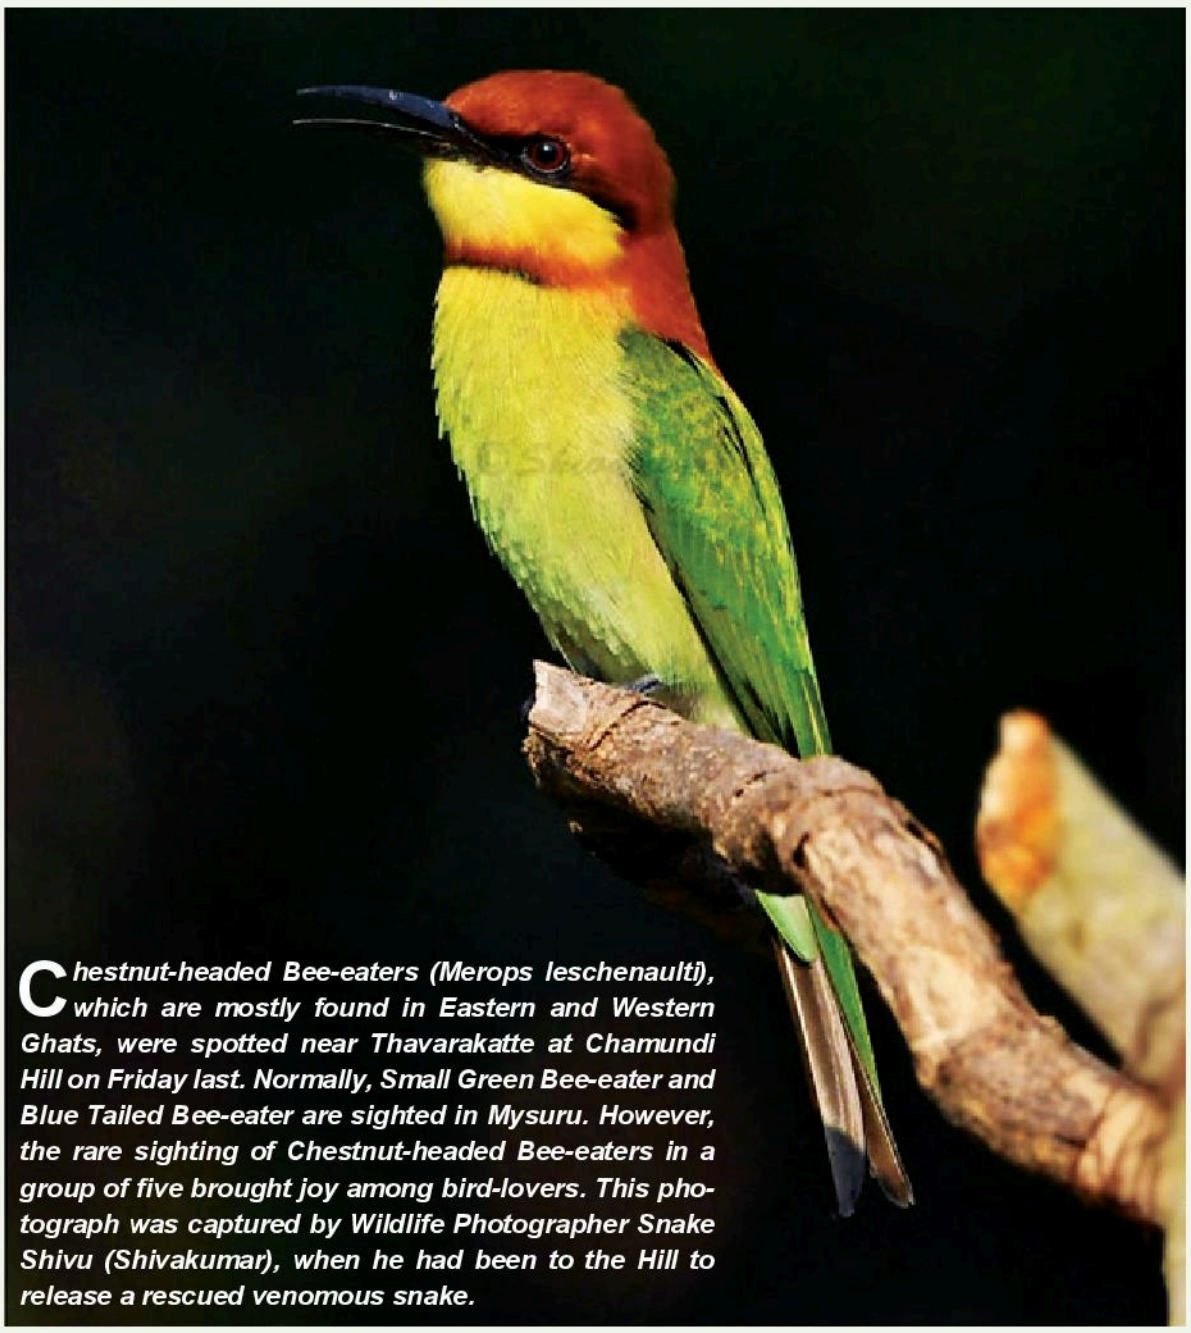
Are high pitched noises unpleasant to cattle?

High pitched noise is unpleasant to cows. Cattle are very sensitive to high frequency sounds and have a wider range of hearing than humans (a human's auditory range is from 64 to 23000 Hz, and cattle from 23 to 35 000 Hz).

How can you detect that your cow is in pain?

Stances indicating pain may include a tucked abdomen and tail, hunched back, or standing still for extended periods of time. Abnormal gait can include unusual walking patterns or uneven weight-bearing, as seen when a cow is suffering from lameness. Unusual resting behaviours — Lying with legs in an unusual position and a hesitation to rise when lying may indicate pain.

A rare sighting...



Chestnut-headed Bee-eaters (Merops leschenaulti), which are mostly found in Eastern and Western Ghats, were spotted near Thavarakatte at Chamundi Hill on Friday last. Normally, Small Green Bee-eater and Blue Tailed Bee-eater are sighted in Mysuru. However, the rare sighting of Chestnut-headed Bee-eaters in a group of five brought joy among bird-lovers. This photograph was captured by Wildlife Photographer Snake Shivu (Shivakumar), when he had been to the Hill to release a rescued venomous snake.

Book talk

Narratives that leave indelible impression in mind

Dr. Geetha

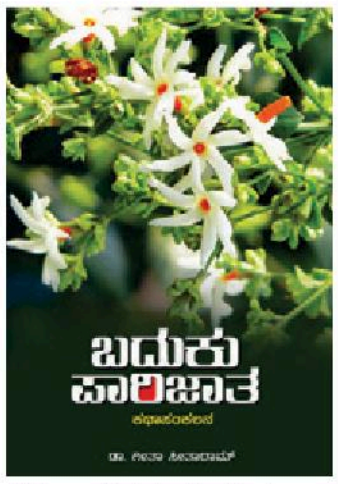
Life has been interpreted by many renowned writers in different languages that may help us understand its full import. The legendary writer D.V. Gundappa (DVG) opined that life is a mere cart and its reins lie in the hands of fate.

(ಬದುಕು ಜಟಕಾ ಬಂಡಿ ವಿಧಿ ಅದರ ಸಾಹೇಬ)

The author of this book has chosen to liken life to the flower Paarijaata, which was brought from Heaven, according to the epic Mahabharata.

The narrative, presented in nine chapters as distinct short stories, is in uncomplicated language compelling the readers to read on and on. Given the references to historical and epic characters, which are large in number, in addition to contemporary happenings of life, as in the second short story Paarijaata, one cannot deny that the author has done extensive study of literature in different languages including Kannada, Sanskrit, Tamil and English in which she is deeply conversant.

While the short stories that are connected with epics and scriptures are written in easy-to-follow language, those that are based on myriad social themes are highly absorbing and leave a long-lasting impression in readers' mind. In particular, the story of a father insisting on euthanasia with his son is heart-rending.



Title: Baduku Paarijaata
Author: Dr. Geetha Seetharam
Language: Kannada
Pages: 108+iv
Price: Rs. 100
Publisher: Panchajanya Publications, Papareddypalya, Bengaluru

A brief biographical note is included in the book with facts already familiar to the wide circle of her admirers, relatives, friends and reading public.

Dr. Geetha Seetharam's diverse interests driving her to write copiously can be followed from the list of her published works appended on the back cover of the book.

The presentation of events and episodes, unique in style free from ostentation, merits prescribing the book as a text in schools and colleges. Although the price of the publication is Rs. 100, the amount being only the cost, its value is manifold of that amount. The literary work of the author has the added potential of egging on young writers to follow in her footsteps.—OSR

WORD OF THE DAY

Wraith

Pronunciation: RAYTH.
Meaning: The exact likeness of a living person seen usually just before death as an apparition; ghost, spectre; an insubstantial form or semblance : shadow; a barely visible gaseous or vaporous column.
Origin: If you see your own double, you're in trouble, at least if you believe old superstitions. The belief that a ghostly twin's appearance portends death is one common to many cultures. In German folklore, such an apparition is called a Doppelgänger (literally, "double goer"); in Scottish lore, they are wraiths. The exact origin of the word wraith is misty, however, and etymologists can only trace it back to the early 16th century—in particular to a 1513 translation of Virgil's Aeneid by Gavin Douglas (the Scotsman used wraith to name apparitions of both the dead and the living). In current English, wraith has taken on additional, less spooky, meanings; it now often suggests a shadowy—but not necessarily scary—lack of substance.
Example: "Walberswick is populated in part by refugees and retirees of London's artistic circles.... Just keep in mind that it's regarded as one of the most haunted villages in Suffolk. George Orwell reportedly saw a wraith in the church cemetery while visiting." — James Lileks, The Star Tribune (Minneapolis, Minnesota), 14 May 2020.

THE ODD WORD

Wair

Timber of six feet in length and one foot in width.

IDIOM OF THE DAY

Wild goose chase

Meaning: When someone is on a "wild goose chase," they are pursuing something that seems to be pointless or unattainable.
Origin: It's believed that this phrase's origin is rooted in some type of 16th century horse racing. Apparently, back then, a "wild goose chase" was a horse race in which the lead rider would be pursued by other riders, which is said to be similar to how geese flying in a formation will follow the one in the lead. However, the rules and details of this sort of race don't seem to be very clear; the opinions on it vary.
This phrase was used in a figurative way by William Shakespeare in the play Romeo and Juliet, believed to have been written in 1594 or 1595:
"Nay, if thy wits run the wild-goose chase, I have done, for thou hast more of the wild-goose in one of thy wits than, I am sure, I have in my whole five: was I with you there for the goose?"

Make helmet mandatory for batsmen

New Delhi, Nov. 4- Indian batting great Sachin Tendulkar on Tuesday took to Twitter to urge the International Cricket Council (ICC) to make wearing helmets mandatory for batsmen at all the professional levels against any bowling attack — be it a spinner or a fast bowler.

Tendulkar's remark came after a recent incident in the ongoing Indian Premier League (IPL) where Sunrisers Hyderabad all-rounder Vijay Shankar was hit on the helmet while trying to take a quick single but was saved by the grille on the protective gear. Sharing a link to the video on his Twitter handle, the batting maestro tweeted: "The game has become faster but is it getting safer? Recently we witnessed an incident which could've been nasty. Be it a spinner or pacer, wearing a HELMET should be MANDATORY for batsmen at professional levels. Request @ icc to take this up on priority."

Annual inspection of Central Workshop at Ashokapuram

Mysuru, Nov. 4- Ajay Kumar Singh, General Manager (GM), South Western Railway (SWR), Hubballi, did annual inspection of the Central Workshop, Ashokapuram, on Oct. 23.

Central Workshop - Ashokapuram of SWR was established in 1924 as a base Workshop of the erstwhile Mysore State Railway. The Workshop has started POH of BG coaches from 1994. With the introduction of LHB coaches on Indian Railways, Workshop has been nominated to carry out Shop Shedule-1, Shop Schedule-2 and Shop Schedule-3 Schedules for the LHB coaches from 2012 onwards.

Recently, the Workshop has successfully manufactured High-speed MEMU motor coach wheel that is fit to run at a speed of 160 kmph. This wheel manufacturing is undertaken for the first time in Indian Railway Workshop against M/s Bombardier quality plan.

Principal Heads of various Departments — P. Ravi Kumar, PCME, Vipul Kumar, PCE, Roopa Srinivasan, PFA, Ajay Kumar, PCSTE, G.V. Narayana Murthy, PCMM, Anil Pavithran, PCCM, M.A.V. Ramanujan, PCSO, Dr. Vilas Gunda, PCMD and R.S. Chouhan, PCSC — accompanied SWR GM for the inspection.

Aparna Garg, DRM, Mysuru (now transferred) and P. Srinivasu, Chief Workshop Manager, Mysuru, were also present. Singh inaugurated the Railway Institute (relocated) at the Workshop. Facilities for playing many indoor games like caroms, chess, snooker, table tennis and reading rooms are provided.

Sujata Singh, President, SWR Women's Organisation, inaugurated Heritage Pillars at the Workshop. These two Heritage Pillars were casted in Mysuru Workshop in the year 1939 for Mysore State Railway (MSR), which was found recently. To give them a place of pride right at the entrance of the Workshop, these two pillars have been aesthetically erected with 2 metal insignias emblems of Southern Maratha Railway (SMR) and of MSR.

A fountain between these two pillars was also inaugurated which will significantly improve the ambiance of the Workshop and will also inculcate heritage consciousness in the staff.

A portrait of the Mysore Maharaja was also unveiled during the occasion. The specialty of 3D painting is that the person in the painting will be seen looking at the viewer from any angle of viewing. Even the direction of footwear of Mysore Maharaja will appear pointed towards the viewers. Mysuru Workshop was established in the reign of Nalwadi Krishnaraja Wadiyar. His many accomplishments resulting in all-round development of Mysore Kingdom, crediting many firsts in India are well-documents besides the portrait.

SWR GM and Officers of Headquarters visited Nakshatra Vatika (a conceptual Garden) and a Nursery garden for small plants developed by the staff from Planning and Progress section. A total of 18 saplings were planted by GM, PHODs, DRM and CWM during the occasion. The Refusal Yard, Bio Tank Cleaning Area, Carriage Body Repair Shop & Paint Shop, LHB Spring Shop and Carriage lift shop were also inspected by the team of officers from SWR/ HQ.

The SWR GM also inaugurated the Welding Simulator at BTC. Welding simulator gives virtual training to operate welding tools, which is very essential to activities in Workshop. 5T Electric Overhead Travelling (EOT) crane was commissioned. The 25th High Speed MEMU Motor Coach wheel was rolled out for BEML on Oct. 23. Shot Blasting Machine was also inaugurated on this occasion.

Hydraulic Press (8T capacity) for pressing in/ out the primary suspension unit used in LHB bogies manufactured by Mysuru Workshop was inaugurated.

Following sections of the Workshop were inspected by GM and PHODs: 1) Bogie Repair Shop; 2) Air Brake Shop; 3) Stores Depot; 4) Wheel Shop; 5) Machine Shop; 6) POH of coaches at AC shop.

Chief Workshop Manager P. Srinivasu gave a presentation on the performance and achievement of the Workshop.

Ajay Kumar Singh distributed awards to the officers and staff of the Workshop for their performance during the previous year and up to September this year. The SWR GM later interacted with members of Recognised Trade Unions and staff of Workshop. Singh commended the efforts taken by Mysuru Workshop in housekeeping and well-documented files and records. He also appreciated the performance of Mysuru Workshop in producing Zero en-route coach failures and failure of components within 100 days.
